MILK STRIKERS REBEL AGAINST PMA, GOVERNOR

HORNER'S PLEA FOR THIRTY DAY TRUCE REJECTED

New Bargaining Agency Will Be Established By Farmers

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(P)—Open rebellion by striking farmers against the Pure Milk Association and a defy by the strikers to Governor Horner to widen the break in the milk strike.

Striking farmers who met in Elgin rejected the governor's plea for a 30-day truce and began the establishment of a new bargaining agency to supplant the Pure Milk Association, official b agency for 18,000 dairy farmers in the Chicago milkshed.

Almost simultaneously the answers to the governor's plea for arbitration flashed to Springfield. PMA directors said they would abide by a truce. A clamorous "no" came from Elgin, where representatives of fifteen counties in the Chicago milkshed debated the plan.

By 65 to 5 vote the votes in opposition were delivered by the Du-Pike county delegation—the following resolution was adopted by the striking farmers and announced by Robert F. Marcotte, leader of the strike:

"We will not accept a truce at the present, but instead will keep our milk at home until demands of $2.30 per hundredweight for all milk are met. Further, we recommend that the farmers in our cities abstain from all acts of violence or interfering with legitimate traffic."

Meanwhile, in conjunction with their announcement of truce acceptance, PMA directors authorized Don N. Geyer, secretary-manager of the association to announce that pure milk members would "protect their property with their lives if necessary."

A tragic development in connection with the strike occurred when Police Chief Herbert Loech of Wheeling patroled a state highway and was fatally injured. As the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with a state highway convey car two miles north of Wheeling.

Federal intervention in the strike situation was sought when attorney Charles Schmitz filed a petition in U. S. district court for an injunction restraining the United Farmers of Illinois, organization sponsoring the strike, the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union and their officials from interfering with the milk supply of the Meadowmoor Dairy Company.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan will hear the petition at 10:30 a. m. (CST) Wednesday.

When representatives of the Associated Milk Dealers meeting behind closed doors to consider the truce offered, heard of the rejection by striking farmers they phoned Governor Horner with the decision it would be "useless" for them to deliberate further.

They assured Gov. Horner they believed him sincere, and expressed their willingness to "cooperate fully in any measures taken to keep the milk lanes open."

A disturbance at Harvard resulted in the arrest of H. A. Prigentz and Joe Patterson, who were charged with malicious mischief after a clash between a PMA "flying squadron" and pickets near the Bowman Dairy plant.

They were rushed for a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. S. Battam at Woodstock and held in jail in default of $1,000 bail each.

A convoy of state highway policemen, riding in four cars, escorted eleven empty trucks north from Waukesha to southern Wisconsin, where it was reported they would attempt to fill and deliver milk back through the lines to Chicago.

WORKS PROGRESS ADMINISTRATION FIXES QUOTAS

Over Billion Dollars Allotted By McCarl And Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 8.—(P)—The Works Progress administration said tonight its project quotas had been fixed at $1,140,000,000, of which President Roosevelt has allotted $609,072,211 and Comptroller General J. R. McCarl has approved $665,889,956.

One broken spring, $4.50; for mental anguish and loss of appetite, $500; for loss of wife's confidence, $100—and the balance for weakening my chance for a hereafter by cussing.

The claimant said the damages resulted when his car bounced over a broken culvert.

It listed for the first time a complete distribution of WPA state quotas. Many showed sharp slashes resulting from the reduction from WPA's expected $2,000,000,000.

Of the $1,140,000,000 total, $69,620,000 was set aside for nation-wide projects, including $27,058,268 for the National Youth Movement and $27,315,217 for white collar projects.

In some instances in the state lists, figures listed for money which had cleared both President Roosevelt and McCarl was larger than the state quota. Officials explained that $142,273,000 in cancelled projects had been included "before the recessions were made of record."

Fire of the six states in which direct relief already had been discontinued were among those faring best in cash released by McCarl—Indiana, Alabama, Vermont, Wyoming and New Hampshire. No WPA project had been approved for Nevada, the sixth and 232 employed by other agencies were said to make up almost all that state's employables on relief.

Maine was without funds to carry on WPA projects, while only $25,000 has been released for Arizona and $23,000 for Iowa.

With $100,000,000 left to taper off the relief administration, including temporary aid for those whose jobs are shifted as projects are finished, officials said they hoped to liquidate the relief administration during November.

WPA to Spend $73,000,000 In Illinois

Every Employable on Relief Rolls in State Will Be Put to Work

Washington, Oct. 8.—(P)—The Works Progress Administration plans to spend $73,000,000 in Illinois in its efforts to put every employable now idle to work.

That amount, it was announced today, has been allocated to the state.

President Roosevelt's approval for WPA projects totaling $71,619,324 has already been given.

Approximately half of that sum, $35,921,142, is now available for use in the state, the office of the comptroller general having released that amount.

For the nation, President Roosevelt has approved $609,072,211 to date for WPA projects. Of this amount the comptroller general's office has so far released $586,889,956.

Originally, WPA sought to have 100,000 persons off of relief and on the rolls in Illinois by November 1. In its last progress report it was stated that less than 7,000 of the 183,000 had been given jobs. The 163,000 set as the November goal is not the total, however, for whom WPA plans to create jobs in Illinois. Ultimately, it is believed, the agency, if it carries out its purpose of creating jobs for all employables, must find work for approximately 270,000 in the state.

The three Robinsons were indicted together on kidnapping and conspiracy charges carrying prison sentences at the court's discretion, if they are convicted, and possibly the death penalty should the jury recommend it.

While his wife and father are in jeopardy young Robinson remains a fugitive. G-men and other officers have vainly hunted his trail since that Tuesday.

Roger W. Babson Sees Prosperity

New York, Oct. 8.—(P)—Roger W. Babson, statistician and economist, predicted today the United States would be out of the depression in six months and headed for prosperity.

Babson said a declining standard of living would accompany the boom, because "the administration x x x has taught the people they can be made comfortable without working and can get security by legislation."

The next administration, whether democratic or republican, Babson believed, will be more conservative than the present.

"A far more conservative congress will be elected in 1936," he told the annual New York Babson conference.

DOCTOR EXONERATED

St. Louis, Oct. 8.—(P)—Dr. John J. Hopkins, coroner of Macon county, Illinois, was exonerated by a grand jury today in the death of Mrs. Mary Louise Payne, 34, Decatur, Ill., widow who was killed here Aug. 26 while riding in Dr. Hopkins' car.

Dr. Hopkins, 47, seriously hurt when the car he was driving crashed into a watering trough.

Witness testified at a coroner's inquest that shortly before the crash Dr. Hopkins, who was apparently arguing with Mrs. Payne, stepped out of the car and took the driver's seat.

CORONER'S JURY INVESTIGATING FATAL BLASTS

Salvage Workers Are Searching Ruins For Bodies

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(P)—Three claimants and three engineers impaled as a coroner's jury delved today into possible causes of the terrific industrial blast which leveled six story building yesterday, killing at least six men and injuring some two score persons.

Crowds estimated by police at 10,000 persons were held back by lines of officers today as salvage workers, using cranes, bucket shovels and acetylene torches, attacked the debris in search of other bodies.

At least six men known to have been in or near the soy bean plant of the Glidden Company when a devastating blast turned it into a shamash shortly before noon yesterday were still unaccounted for today.

Four district investigations were launched as the wreckers worked. The coroner's jury, composed of technical experts at the behest of Coroner Frank Walsh, pried through the wreckage, heard testimony from two women widowed by the blast, and continued the inquiry to Oct. 22 pending further investigations and the outcome of injuries in the hospital patients.

United Kingdom—Reuter's dispatch says Italian used gas for first time near Adwa yesterday, while unconfirmed European reports say Adwa was repulsed and Italians massacred; Italian airplanes flew over Diredawa and Harar dropping propaganda pamphlets; Addis Ababa heard rumors British is aiding or permitting munitions shipments to Ethiopia despite official ban.

America—The United States makes representations to Italy in an effort to have American neutrality respected in case Addis Ababa is bombed. The export-import bank decides against credit for the sale of goods to Italy.

ITALIANS HOLD RICH REGION OF NORTH ETHIOPIA

ARTILLERY IS BUSY CLEARING MOUNTAIN SIDES

Residents Of Aduwa Busy Repairing Damage

With the Italian Armies On the Northern Ethiopian Front, Oct. 8.—A rich region of northern Ethiopia, 60 miles deep along a 60 mile front, was completely under the domination of Italy's armed legions today.

This correspondent, on a 26-hour exhaustive visit along the front, found the inhabitants apparently already accustomed to this occupation and going about their daily work as if nothing had happened.

Addwa, poor village of 3,000 souls which fell to the Italian avengers of a 30-year-old defeat on Sunday, was busy repairing the damage wrought by Count Galeazzo Ciano's aerial bombardment which preceded the capture.

The Italian consul at Adwa, Signor France, who had been missing for several days, returned to his work.

In the fields the Ethiopians were ploughing with implements made of sharpened poles tied upright to a stick without handles and drawn by teams of oxen.

Italy's eager blackshirts were held in check by their commanders from further advances, and the armies were consolidating their positions along the Adwa-Adigrat line, letting the big guns of the artillery clear the enemy from the mountains immediately beyond this point.

Addis Ababa, Oct. 8.—(P)—Emperor Haile Selassie, heartened by the prospect of League of Nations sanctions against Italy, urged all Ethiopians to evacuate the Italian colony of Eritrea tonight and told his envoy to Rome to ask for his passports.

The emperor's last appeal to his subjects was represented by his aides as believing major sanctions will break down Italy's defiance while the armies of U. Duke break their skulls on the rock-ribbed mountain citadels of Ethiopia, which no invader yet has penetrated.

He was confident, too, of the broken morale of his own savage warriors, reported massed by the thousands in the mountains south of Ethiopia.

The emperor ordered Nagadus Alavork Cheye Tasse, his minister to Rome, to ask for his passports; told the Ethiopian consul at Asmara, Eritrea, to withdraw, and asked all Ethiopians to leave the colony of Eritrea, tonight.

The attorney general held that funds can be distributed immediately on the basis of the old appropriation.

The opinion was asked by Auditor Edward J. Barrett to settle a technical question caused by an amendment as to whether all payments should be held up until the new school fund appropriation of $13,000,000 annually is apportioned in January.

The attorney general held that funds can be distributed immediately on the basis of the old appropriation, which was for $10,500,000 yearly.

Schools at Rockford and some other cities have contended that they will be under a severe financial handicap if the state aid is not paid promptly.

Kerner in further explanation said the increased appropriation can be distributed in the same proportion as when the schools were entitled to receive $10,500,000 from the state.

Studying the opinion officials in the auditor's office said on its face it appears that major sanctions will break down Italy's defiance while the armies of U. Duke break their skulls on the rock-ribbed mountain citadels of Ethiopia, which no invader yet has penetrated.

Then Selassie proclaimed that since all Italians were leaving his nation,

Clipper Plane To Be Delivered To Airways Today

Four Engined Liner Largest Airplane Ever Developed In America

New York, Oct. 8.—(P)—The first of three Martin Flying boats, destined for trans-Pacific scheduled service, will be turned over to Pan-American Airways in Baltimore tomorrow.

The big four-engined air liner "Clipper No. 7" is the largest airplane ever developed in America. It has a gross weight of 25,000 tons, develops 2,200 horsepower, and has a flying range of 3,000 to 4,000 miles.

Final engineering check tests were complete today, and the first flight with passengers is scheduled for tomorrow.

The ship, which has taken nearly three years to build, will be flown from New York to Miami October 16, for long range performance tests over the Caribbean.

As the latest addition to the Pan-American fleet of clipper planes, it will be christened the "China Clipper."

The ship is one of three identical trans-oceanic ships built by the Glenn L. Martin Company to specification of Pan American Airways. Its two sister ships are already completed at the Baltimore plant and will be ready for delivery, equipped for Pacific service, within the next six weeks.

For trans-oceanic service, the new clipper can serve as sleeper plane for 18 passengers, cargo and crew of seven. In the Pacific, the over-ocean hop of longest duration is 2,416 miles between the mainland and Hawaii.

As a mail transport only, the clipper can cruise 4,000 miles.

Mrs. Creighton, the confession said, also denied her death because Applegate had planned for her brother Charles R. Avery, when they lived in Newark, N. J. She said she did it because he was "a cripple and a burden to the family."

After being acquitted of his slaying accidentally, Mrs. Creighton, who is 36, was tried for the poison death of her mother-in-law and again was acquitted. Her confession denied this possibility.

So Applegate, according to Littleton, was still on the case when he was freed on the 20th day since the trial received the first threatening note. He read:

Freedom of the Seas

Captain John Paul Jones, who fought the British for the freedom of the seas, would probably turn over in his grave did he know of the recent warning issued to Americans that they would trade with either Italy or Ethiopia at their own risk and travel on ships of either nation under the same conditions. But then Capt. Jones did not go thru the world war and see fifty thousand American boys sacrificed on foreign soil to defend the right to trade with belligerents. He did not see this nation loan billions to European Allies to finance that war, only to have payment refused when time came to settle.

It has been learned from experience that freedom of the seas means scarcely more than the right to carry on commerce. In times of peace that right is sacred. It took American warships to stop piracy along the Barbary coast, and no one has ever questioned the wisdom of the government's action in that matter. But when there is war under way between nations in which the United States has no interest, unless it be in the profit which might accrue to American business, it is entirely right that such profit should be sacrificed to protect the people of this nation from having to fight an unnecessary war.

The action of the President in carrying out the provisions of the neutrality law passed by the last Congress may be a reversal of American policy, but it is a step toward a higher plane of international relations. The enforcement of neutrality is making history which may in future lead to more permanent world peace. The United States has set the example which the other nations of the earth might do well to follow.

A $2,400 Wallop

When "Goose" Goslin singled in the ninth inning and scored "Mickey" Cochrane, that wallop meant just $2,449 each for the members of the victorious Detroit team. For years Goslin has been rated as an old man in baseball. Many have been the predictions that he would soon retire.

But when Goslin faced "Larry" French, the Cub pitcher, with the score tied three and three, there was no indication of advancing age. Goslin found the pitch he wanted and did his best. He gave the ball sufficient impetus to permit one more score for the Tigers, which was all they needed.

The difference between victory and defeat lay in that hit. The fact that Goslin was an older member of the team and had been playing a long time made no difference when his bat contacted the ball. Age plus skill earned an extra $2,449 for each Tiger player. Like "Goose" Goslin in Detroit, no matter how old he is.

New Home of Justice

At last the Supreme Court of the United States has a home of its own, and one befitting its dignity and importance. At a time when the eyes of the nation are turned toward the court, it begins its autumn session in the magnificent new palace of justice in Washington.

While executive departments of the government in Washington and elsewhere were getting new buildings and while federal courts in other parts of the nation received handsome homes from the taxpayers, the Supreme Court remained homeless, sitting in borrowed rooms. But the expenditure of $11,500,000 has remedied the situation, and the court is today housed as it should be.

It is significant that the court moved to its new quarters with no fanfare of dedication, though the move has received nationwide notice from the press. The nine men composing the court take their duties seriously and have little time or inclination for display. They no doubt realize that the first session in the new temple of justice is the most important in the history of the court.

Legislation designed to make vital changes in the nation's economic life are coming up for decision as to their constitutionality. The nation stands on the threshold of changes, with the Supreme court standing guard at the door of a new and strange world. And if the court refuses entrance, the people must decide the next step.

It is therefore entirely fitting that this particular session of the court should be held in the handsome structure the people have erected for its use. The great work in hand justifies the setting provided.

Great Crowds Assure Confidence in U. S.

By Bruce Catton

The man who is looking for signs of the times among the American people would do well to ponder briefly over the three vast crowds that assembled in as many different cities on one night recently.

In St. Louis, some 70,000 people gathered to help the American Legion make a joyous, noisy festival out of its national convention.

In Cleveland, close to 100,000 people gathered for the seventh National Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic church; and 43,000 of them assembled in a great open-air meeting addressed by ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Now it would be hard to imagine three more sharply contrasting events than these; and the fact that they were all held on the same night, drawing people from all parts of the country, is more than a little significant.

At home too, there are ominous signs aplenty, what with labor difficulties, farm unrest, continuing unemployment and a dark horizon in the world of finance; so that thoughtful men now and then wonder darkly if our country, too, may not be on the verge of giving way to one of these expressions of mass dissatisfaction which change the course of a nation's history.

These three events, at St. Louis, Cleveland and New York—somehow they have a reassuring sound to them. They reflect general confidence, a nationwide faith that the traditional American scheme of things need not be changed beyond recognition.

A country that can hold three events of this kind on one day, each so utterly different from the other two, each one drawing its thousands of people from all sections of the land . . . well, such a country must be getting along pretty well, after all.

This Is Too Good to Shush

Your correspondent finds himself unable to suppress this story:

A man in New York who makes frequent business trips to Washington bears a closer facial resemblance to Herbert Hoover than any other known human being.

Not long ago he and a friend were celebrating at the Cotton Club center of the capital's "little Harlem." About midnight they had conducted themselves with sufficient exuberance to cause them to be bounced out.

The New York man found a wooden box and mounted it at the corner of 15th and U streets. He announced his candidacy for president of the United States on a platform calling for the closing of the Cotton Club.

Two colored policemen came to the scene as he thundered on. But his friend restrained them, saying:

"Don't you recognize Herbert Hoover when you see him? Give him a chance. After all, this doesn't happen very often."

The cops promptly devoted themselves to keeping back the crowd which soon amounted to nearly 300 people.

No one knows how long this might have gone on if a couple of girls hadn't come along in a car and invited the speaker for a ride downtown. He said good night to his audience and accepted at once.

It was made clear that the United States probably would follow the League of Nations lead—if the league decided this was a war—and apply embargoes.

But we are in no way bound by legal decisions, and international law leaves the way open to any administration which in the future decides to ignore conflict and carnage with the pretense that all is serene and peaceful.

AAAs Look Itself Over

Taking precautions against publicity, about 50 of the highest officials in AAA recently had a secret three-day weekend at the old Weather Bureau station at Mount Weather, Va., to discuss various AAA headaches. Secretary Wallace and Administrator Chester Davis led this retreat to the hills.

Foremost on the agenda was the problem of AAA and the consumer. Wallace rammed home the point to a largely farmer-minded group that insistence on scarcity and high prices would eventually wreck the AAA.

He said the program must be made a flexible one, not just a check-writing process, and that farmers mustn't be encouraged to demand programs which would cause consumers to turn against them.

The conference was presented with results of a great national survey with acreage-production estimates on the bases of: 1. Soil conservation and good farm management. 2. Party prices. 3. Normal consumption.

Some of the tables showed startling discrepancies. AAA's job, its officials were told, was to compromise them on a sound basis.

The figures are being kept secret. In fact, all hands at the conference were sworn to secrecy.

INSANITY PLEA FOR M. W. ZENGE BEING MAPPED

Charged With Brutal Emasculation Slaying

Chicago, Oct. 8.—A defense strategy based on a plea of insanity was mapped for Mandeville W. Zenge tonight on the eve of his trial for the brutal emasculation slaying of his love rival, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, last summer.

Defense Attorney Joseph E. Green, pointing out that his client has already entered a "not guilty" response to the charge of the state, said the insanity defense likely would be raised after the prosecution's evidence was completed.

Toward that end, he added, prospective juries will be questioned at the opening of the trial in the Canton, Mo., farmer's trial for murder tomorrow in the court of Justice Cornelius J. Harrington, as to whether they are prepossessed against such a defense.

Prosecutors, who admitted at a preliminary hearing yesterday, they had no admissible deathbed statement from Dr. Bauer, who was found bleeding in his automobile at a south side filling station, indicated they would call Mrs. Louise Bauer, the widow, as one of their important witnesses.

The defense said Mrs. Bauer would not be asked to testify for the 26 year old defendant, who was her fiance before her sudden marriage to Dr. Bauer. The marriage occurred when Dr. Bauer was attached to a hospital in Kirksville, Mo., at which Mrs. Bauer was then superintendent of nurses.

In pressing for the death penalty for the defendant, prosecutors indicated they would combat any insanity plea with the findings of state attorneys holding Zenge to be sane.

Zenge has refused to talk about the case since he was arrested a few days after the slaying.

Bauer gasped out a story of the attack as he lay dying, but was not told his death was inevitable, prosecutors explained. Consequently, they said, his statement was not a "dying declaration" within the meaning of the legal term.

H.C. Worcester and Wife Observe 50th Date of Marriage

Roodhouse Residents Hold Open House; Dinner is Impressive Feature

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Worcester, prominent residents of Roodhouse, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding Monday. Members of the immediate family were entertained at a turkey dinner at Cedar Crest, the home of Mrs. George Morrow in Roodhouse. Many friends were received by Mr. and Mrs. Worcester during the afternoon and evening.

The table at the dinner was beautiful in all its appointments. As a center piece was arranged a miniature bride and groom; the bride attired in a dress made from a piece of Mrs. Worcester's bridal gown, designed as an exact replica. They also held a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Worcester.

Each guest received a dinner favor of a sachet made from a piece of the original wedding dress with the date 1885-86 embroidered on it.

Mrs. Worcester wore a corsage of gladioli.

The bride and groom of fifty years ago led the group as they entered the dining room to the wedding march played by Mrs. A. D. Barrow at the piano. Miss Virginia Merrill sang a group of songs during the dinner. These included: "I Love You Truly," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Loves Old Sweet Song," "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet."

Those at the dinner besides the guests of honor were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson and daughter Mary Ellen, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worcester and son Hale, Roodhouse; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Worcester and daughter Patricia, Woodriver; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Worcester, sons Dick and Bobby, of Newton; Mrs. Sorrell Condit, Mrs. Sam Smith, William Kuehler, Roodhouse; Mrs. Dick Worcester, daughter Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Hale Dalbathy, White Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Osborne, Grinnell, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Condit, Mr. and Mrs. Al Schultz, Beardstown.

Hundred at Reception

Following the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Worcester received their friends at their home. The afternoon and evening hours until nine o'clock were filled with the visits from their many friends, including over one hundred.

During the afternoon Henry Crain took pictures of the bride and groom at the home. He also took pictures of the dinner guests seated at the table.

The home was beautifully decorated with flowers and the gold colors predominated at the home as well as in the dinner arrangements.

The bride and groom were honored with a radio number being dedicated to them.

Dainty refreshments were served at the evening reception, with Richard and Paul Worcester assisting. As the guests registered, each was given a rose bud. The many exchanges of greetings and congratulations between the host of friends made the occasion one long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Worcester were married in 1885 in Winchester, with Rev. Auer performing the ceremony at the Methodist church. Mrs. Worcester graduated from the Winchester High school and attended the Illinois Woman's College (MacMurray College). Mr. Worcester graduated from the White Hall schools, then moved to Roodhouse where he entered the lumber and hardware business. He has lived in Roodhouse ever since.

Klines Celebrate 61st Anniversary

Nation-wide, but Locally Is Get-acquainted Event for New Manager

The Kline Department store of this city is inaugurating today a sale in celebration of the 61st anniversary of the founding of the J. G. Kline chain of stores. The sale is a nationwide event, being held in every Kline store in the country. The local store on the south side of the square has been in operation eleven years.

The sale here is also the get-acquainted event for the new store manager Carl Englund, who recently came from Monroe, Mich., to take charge of the Kline store. Mr. Englund said yesterday that the sale will include all departments of the store's large stock of merchandise.

The Kline stores have bought heavily for this anniversary sale. The prices secured for the public cannot be duplicated at a future date, as merchandise costs are continually rising. The goods have been purchased on a rising market, and the buying public is being given the advantage of quantity buying on the part of the firm.

The local Kline store has had a successful career. Mr. Englund is anticipating an increased business and a most prosperous fall and winter trading season, which the anniversary sale now starting will put into its full stride.

Paid off $9,000.

During the past three years, Mr. Wright pointed out, the school district has paid off only $9,000 of the bonded indebtedness. During that time $71,500 in bonds have been taken up and $62,500 in bonds have been issued to pay for taking up the $71,500.

In a summarized statement, it was shown that four bond issues, $88,000 at five percent on the high school building, $80,000 at five percent on the new school heating plant, $72,000 at 4½ percent on the Jefferson school, and $100,000 at 4½ percent on the Washington school, were outstanding on these issues $55,000 on the high school building, $55,000 on the heating plant, $55,000 on the Jefferson building and $100,000 on the Washington school building, a total of $288,000. That total plus the $62,500 refunding and $80,000 funding bonds issued in 1932 comprise the total of the $411,000 in outstanding bonds.

Interest that it would have been unnecessary to pay had the school district suffered no less of funds amounts to $52,215, another table shown point out. All of the bonds carry from 4½ to 6 percent interest.

During the course of the discussion it was explained that the school district itself cannot pay a premium to call in outstanding bonds under any refinancing plan, but that unless the bonds were refinanced, it would be impossible to pay them when they fell due. The next bond due date is not until December, but a large amount of detailed work remains to be done before that time, if the district decided to follow that method of relieving the severe financial pressure.

Dr. R. O. Stoops, superintendent, declared that it would not be necessary for the district to refinance the bonds if the district was still operating under an assessed valuation of $12,000,000, but the district now is valued at only $9,000,000, and there is not sufficient revenue to meet the bonds. It was his opinion that regardless of whether it was necessary to refinance at present, it seemed to be the better business policy to cut the interest rates through this process, and thereby save the district money. F. G. Norbury stated that Jacksonville school district bonds were selling far above par now.

Recommendations Heard.

Other than approving the bills presented for payment, and hearing a report from S. N. Foley, chairman of the building and ground committee, the board devoted most of its time in listening to recommendations by Dr. Stoops.

The board authorized the superintendent to enter into a contract with John Martin to serve as attendance officer in the grade and high schools in order to observe the state law requiring children to attend school. Dr. Stoops pointed out that the state school distributive fund this year will be allotted on a basis of $1 per pupil average daily attendance, and that it would be necessary to increase the average in the city schools only 16 pupils to pay Martin's salary.

Dr. Stoops estimated that the city would receive approximately $17,000 from the distributive school fund this year, and stated that payments would be made quarterly instead of monthly as in the past.

Where the ground is already badly eroded, it probably will be necessary not only to construct terraces but also to keep the ground out of cultivation for a number of years by planting it to grasses and legumes.

Rather than allow fields to reach this stage, farmers in Morgan and other counties of Illinois should heed the first warning of serious washing and protect their fields with terraces or erosion control crops. Hay declared.

The problem of determining what part the school board could take in the proposed city wide WPA recreational project was turned over to the superintendent and C. R. Gruny for investigation and report back to the board. The board also voted to allow the Y. M. C. A. to use the city school gymnasiums on the same basis as last year, for its winter program at a Bloomington hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Stice represented the Litterberry community in the city yesterday.

SEEK PLAN TO RE-FINANCE SCHOOL DEBTS

Discuss Means of Saving District $7,500 Annually

Seeking a plan to re-finance the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the city school district, amounting to $411,000, the board of education at its regular meeting last night in its offices at the Newton Bateman memorial building authorized the finance committee to determine upon a plan, to make preliminary investigations, and requested the committee to report back to the board on the possibility of such action at the present time.

There is no crisis in the operation of the city schools, C. N. Wright, chairman of the finance committee told the board, but there is a crisis of keeping the district's credit good by paying the bonds as they fall due. He presented the matter of refinancing as a means of saving the school district about $7,500 yearly through the process of calling in outstanding bonds, bearing interest rates as high as six percent, and re-issuing them to carry interest rates of between three and four percent.

The failure of the Ayers National bank will cost the school district about $200,000, the report of the finance committee stated. The report read "Funding and refinancing forced upon us by the bank failure totals $162,500, all of which would have been met when due (except possibly the special assessments). Principal, interest, costs of bonds, and legal opinions, run into the amazing total of approximately $200,000, none of which, in my opinion, would have been necessary had we suffered no loss of funds."

The financial problem, which the board has known it must face for several years, was brought up in connection with discussion of a new state law, interpretation of which has been that one section of the law permits a county clerk to spread an assessment sufficient to cover the installments due on the indebtedness, and another section that takes that authority away. Regardless of the interpretation of this law, the finance committee chairman told the board, it would be much better business to refinance the outstanding bonds at a lower interest rate, and save the school district approximately $7,500 yearly.

Most of the accidents were angle collisions, only one being head-on. Thirty-three of the drivers were driving straight ahead, only five making turns when mishaps occurred.

Four were exceeding the speed limit, three did not have the right-of-way, three were cutting in and two were on the wrong side of the street. Six were driving improperly, others not being classified. No defects were found on any of the cars.

Of the 43 drivers only three were under the influence of liquor the police report shows. Fifteen of the accidents occurred on dry pavements, nine taking place during bad weather.

The police received a report of an accident last night when a car driven by Clyde Lyons of Waverly collided with a machine driven by E. P. Nunes of this city. The Nunes car suffered a damaged fender and running board and the Lyons car careened into an electric light pole and bent the pole, smashed the globe and damaged the fenders of the car. No one was hurt in the accident.

ALEXANDER SCHOOL STUDENTS MAKE GOOD RECORDS FOR MONTH

Aldo, Oct. 8.—V. C. Elmore, of Ashland, who will celebrate his 88th birthday Oct. 18, enjoyed his first airplane ride Sunday. Mr. Elmore is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Cynthia Glenn, in Springfield. His grandson, Robert Howie, of the Franklin Life Insurance Co., took him for a drive and during the drive they stopped at the airport just as a passenger plane landed. Mr. Elmore expressed a desire to go up in the plane, and did so, taking flight over Lake Springfield and the city, which he very thoroughly enjoyed.

He said he would like to take a longer flight, sometime, and was amazed when told that a trip to Ashland requires 10 minutes, remarking that he had made the drive with a team in three hours, many times.
